The Three Logos

There are three official versions of the logo. Pick the one that fits the space you are filling. Each comes in three file types: AI and SVG for print and design work, and a see-through PNG for websites and social media. Always use one of these files, never redraw or retype the logo yourself.

The horizontal logo features the name "Natalie Micale Schultz" in a fluid, cursive script, centered within a wide rectangular frame.

PRIMARY · WIDE FORMATS

The stacked logo displays the name "Natalie Micale Schultz" in a cursive script, with "Natalie Micale" on the top line and "Schultz" on the bottom line, centered within a square frame.

Stacked Logo

SQUARE · COMPACT SPACES

The NMS monogram is a stylized, cursive representation of the initials "NMS", with a thick horizontal line underneath, all contained within a square frame.

Brand Colors

The brand uses only three colors: red, black, and white. Red is the main brand color black and white support it. Use the exact codes below so the colors always look the same. The HEX and RGB codes are for screens, and CMYK is for printing.

Red

HEX	RGB	CMYK
#C8102E	200 · 16 · 46	0 · 92 · 77 · 22

Black

#000000	0 · 0 · 0	0 · 0 · 0 · 100

White

#FFFFFF	255 · 255 · 255	0 · 0 · 0 · 0

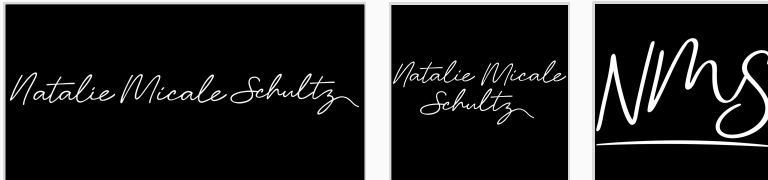

Logo Colors

You may only use these three color versions of the logo. Choose the one that stands out most clearly against the background it sits on.

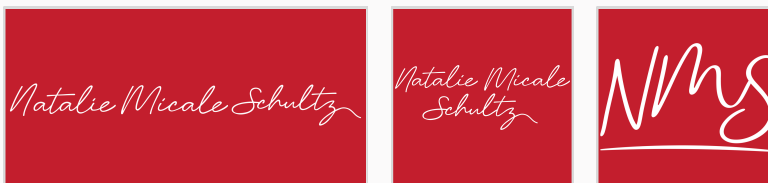

Black

The everyday version. Use it on white or light plain backgrounds, and for black-and-white printing.

White

Use the white logo on black, dark colors, dark photos, or the brand red anywhere a dark logo would be hard to see.

Red

Use for a pop of brand color, but only on white or very light backgrounds. Never put the red logo on black, dark, or busy backgrounds.

The Logo Font

The handwritten name in the logo uses one script font. It is only for the logo itself, don't use it for regular text, and do not type out the name in this font to make a new logo.

CUSTOM LETTERFORMS

Some letters were hand-adjusted, so the logo will not match the font exactly.

- Horizontal & Stacked logos, the L, T, and Z were changed.

- Monogram — the N, M, and S were changed

Space Around the Logo

Always leave enough empty space around the logo so it remains clear and easy to recognize. No text, graphics, photos, or page edges should enter this area. As the logo is scaled up or down, the clear space should scale proportionally.

THE CLEAR ZONE ON EACH LOGO

To ensure the logo remains legible, do not reproduce it smaller than the sizes below:

How Small Is Too Small

The signature is made of thin lines, so it becomes hard to read when it gets too small. Do not use it at sizes smaller than those below.

What Not to Do

The logo should always look the same. Do not change its shape, angle, color, or background in any of the ways shown below.

The logo 'Natalie Micale Schultz' is shown in its original cursive script, but it has been horizontally stretched, making the letters appear thin and elongated.

Don't stretch or distort

The logo 'Natalie Micale Schultz' is shown in its original cursive script, but it has been rotated diagonally upwards to the right.

Don't rotate or tilt

The logo 'Natalie Micale Schultz' is shown in its original cursive script, but it has a soft, grey drop shadow applied behind it.

Don't add shadows or effects

The logo 'Natalie Micale Schultz' is shown in its original cursive script, but the color has been changed to a bright teal or cyan.

Don't use off-brand colors

The logo 'Natalie Micale Schultz' is shown in its original cursive script, but it is placed over a background of a busy, repeating geometric pattern in grey.

Don't place on busy grounds

The name 'Natalie Micale Schultz' is shown in a clean, black, sans-serif font, completely different from the original cursive script.

Don't retype in another font

Icon for Web & Profiles

Use the NMS monogram as the small icon, the little image in a browser tab (favicon) or a social media profile picture.
